

Jorge Perez Izquierdo / Senior Vice President, Manpower Staffing

Jorge Perez Izquierdo is Senior Vice President, Manpower Staffing. In this role he oversees Manpower's staffing business in the United States. Prior to joining the U.S. organization, he spent seven years as the Managing Director of Manpower Mexico, Central America and the Dominican Republic Region.

In 1994 Perez Izquierdo joined Manpower Mexico and held several positions supporting clients like IBM, HP, American Express developing MBS-related business and opening new markets within Mexico and latter on in Central America, leading the organization to become the leader in the Industry in this region. Before joining Manpower, he worked for five years as Managing Engineer at the Viticulture Company, Pedro Domecq, where he coordinated several investment projects.

Perez Izquierdo has a degree in Electromechanical Engineering from La Salle University, an AD Executive Direction Program from the IPADE Institute in Mexico and an Executive Program from the INSEAD business school in Fontanbleu France. He has also completed advanced studies in Finance and Quality Management.

He is the founder of the AMECH (Mexican Association for Human Capital Companies), which represents the top employment services companies in Mexico. He is a board member of La Causa, in Milwaukee, Wis., a non profit organization that has the mission to help educate the children of the Latino community in Milwaukee.